Seminar

STAT On 16 November 1981 [] attended an NFAC Technical Seminar on the FOCUS data base management system (DBMS). Featured were presentations by FOCUS developers and vendor Information Builders Inc. FOCUS, a RAMIS like DBMS, provides features and capabilities which, the vendor claims, expand its user base to include applications which require the manipulation of data represented hierarchically in addition to the RAMIS "flat record" approach. The session, one of a series, was informative and provided input to planning efforts directed toward providing tools to help shift program development to the user. (U/AIUO) []
